THE TASTE OF JEWISH CULTURE

A Virtual Taste of Machane Yehuda Market

Wednesday, June 14, 7:00 pm EDT (online)

Shuk Machane Yehuda, Jerusalem's famous outdoor market, is the beating heart of the city. It reflects the history of modern Jerusalem, while providing food for (and by) the many diverse communities of people who regularly shop there. This virtual tour explores the shuk's highlights and hidden gems while reveling in the sensory overload that makes the market so special. Please join us as we continue our online exploration of Jewish food traditions and the historical connections between Jews and food with Jewish Food researcher Joel Haber.

Performance Art, Religious Practice & Daily Life

Monday, May 22, 3:30 pm EDT (online)

The intersections between art and religion weave human nature and history with surprising connections, and what seems far at first glance can be found in our daily lives. This lecture will explore the unique world of performance art and see how it's intimately connected with religious practice. Then, looking at international and Israeli art examples and Judaism, Islam, and Zen Buddhism, we'll open our eyes to a new form of expression, beauty, and gratitude that goes beyond words.

Shirel Horovitz is a talented artist who uses installations and performances to create deliberate interruptions in daily life, proposing alternative rituals and spaces for reflection. Coming from Tel Aviv, Israel, Shirel Horovitz is serving as the the Jewish Community Foundation Orange County's newly reimagined Weissman Arts Program month-long artist in residence. With a BFA from Bezalel Academy of Art and Design and an MA from The Interdisciplinary Art Program in Tel Aviv University, she is a recipient of the Rabinovitch Art Fund Foundation Prize (2018). Her work has been exhibited in galleries, museums, and art festivals in Israel and in the USA.

The Audacity of Faith

Part 4 - Tuesday, May 23, 1:00 pm EDT (online)

Faith by definition is required at the very moment when we are in doubt, unable to see our way forward. What do we do when in the moments when we most need our faith, we find ourselves at a loss, unable to say, I believe? In this session, we'll turn to the writings of several important modern Jewish thinkers to uncover their own teachings and struggles with faith. From the ghetto of Warsaw and the writings of Rabbi Kalonymus Kalman Shapira to the modern poetry of Israeli poet Yehuda Amichai, we'll ask: what is the nature of faith, what do we do when we find ourselves without it, and on whom or what might we rely in moments of struggle?

Rabbi Avi Strausberg is the Director of National Learning Initiatives at Hadar, and is based in Washington, DC. She received her rabbinic ordination from Hebrew College in Boston and is a Wexner Graduate Fellow. She also holds a Masters in Jewish Education. Energized by engaging creatively with Jewish text, she has written several theatre pieces inspired by the Torah and maintains a Daf Yomi haiku blog in which she writes daily Talmudic haikus.
