JEWISH JOURNEYS TO THE FAR EAST

Our new live virtual travel series, Jewish Journeys to the Far East, begins in April.

Join us for the first session in our series on April 9 at 7:00 pm ET when we will visit the Jewish community in South Korea. We will learn about how Jews have been residing in Korea since the 1950s due to the presence of American soldiers and since the beginning of this century, South Korea has grown into a popular global destination for business, education and travel. Our guide, Anna Jo, is the co-founder of Hakehillah Korea. She arrived in South Korea in 2010 and is among the first generation of Jews in South Korea to make real Jewish history and community there.

Intentional Beauty – Envisioning & Curating Boston's First Judaica Gallery

Session 1 - Tuesday, March 25, 1:00 pm ET (online)

Session 2 - Tuesday, April 1, 1:00 pm ET (online)

Curator Simona Di Nepi leads a two-part, in-depth virtual tour of one of the very first Judaica galleries in an encyclopedic art museum in the world. Explore the 27 works on view and the stories behind their recent acquisition (or unearthing): from an Italian Renaissance Torah binder and an Iraqi Torah case used in India, to a Yemenite woman's festive headdress and a Torah Ark from 1920s Chelsea, Massachusetts. Spanning five hundred years and four continents, and featuring silver, textiles, furniture, paintings, and books, these works highlight the extraordinary diversity of Jewish culture.

Simona Di Nepi is the Charles and Lynn Schusterman Curator of Judaica at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, where she is responsible for building and displaying the Judaica collection, and for curating Intentional Beauty: Jewish Ritual Art from the Collection, the museum's first Judaica gallery. Originally from Rome, before moving to the United States Simona studied and worked in London and Tel Aviv for 25 years. She filled curatorial roles, in both decorative arts and Old Masters, at the Victoria and Albert Museum, The National Gallery, and the Royal Academy of Arts in London, where she cared for permanent collections and curated exhibitions. In Israel, she worked as curator at Anu: The Museum of the Jewish People and as Lecturer in Italian Renaissance art at Reichman University, Herzliya. Simona curated the exhibitions and wrote the accompanying catalogues for Reunions: Bringing Early Italian Paintings Back Together (The National Gallery, London, 2005), and Dreyfus: The Story of a French-Jewish Family (Anu: the Museum of the Jewish People, Tel Aviv, 2014). She is also the author of the National Gallery's collection catalogue From Duccio to Leonardo: Renaissance Painting 1250-1500. In Judaica, Simona wrote the essays "Itinerant Sephardic Judaica: from Dutch Ports to the Harbours of Europe and the Americas," "Jewish Things at the Museum of Fine Arts: a History," "The Servi Shaddai: the Family History of an amulet at the MFA Boston", and "Treasures from storage: Two Rediscovered Italian Jewish Textiles."

Translating the Bible – How, Who & Why

Session 3 – The Targums: When is a Translation Not a Translation? - Thursday, March 27, 3:30 pm ET (online)

Join Rabba Dr. Lindsey Taylor-Guthartz for a fascinating three-part series exploring how Jews have translated and transmitted the Tanakh through the ages. From the Dead Sea Scrolls to the Septuagint (the 2,000-year-old Greek translation by Jews in Egypt) and the Targums (the Aramaic "translations" that influenced Rashi and merge into midrash), we'll uncover the complex history of how the Hebrew text reached us and examine why translation matters. Don't miss this journey through the history, complexity, and significance of Tanakh translation!

Rabba Dr. Lindsey Taylor-Guthartz obtained her PhD from University College London in Jewish Studies and Anthropology, her MA from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem in Prehistory, and her BA from Cambridge University in Archaeology and Anthropology. In 2021 she received Orthodox rabbinic ordination from Yeshivat Maharat in New York. She has also participated in the Cambridge Senior Faith Leadership Program and held a Susi Bradfield Women Educators Fellowship. She is a Teaching Associate at Cambridge University, an Honorary Research Fellow at the Centre for Jewish Studies, Manchester University, and a lecturer and Research Fellow at London School of Jewish Studies. She is currently writing her second book, on the history and development of Limmud. Her first, published in 2021 by the Littman Library of Jewish Civilization, was Challenge and Conformity: The Religious Lives of Orthodox Jewish Women. In 2019 she founded the Pop-Up Beit Midrash, and more recently, she was one of the three founders of Azara, a cross-denominational Beit Midrash providing Jewish learning in the United Kingdom.
